Franklin Central High School does not endorse or prefer any specific test prep option. Statistically, students do not improve test scores from one test to the next without some sort of additional test preparation. Franklin Central encourages families to consider all options based on time and affordability.

FairTest, The National Center for Fair and Open Testing, has compiled a list of nearly 850 colleges and universities nationwide that admit a substantial number of students without regard to test scores. Visit: www.fairtest.org
